

I read that up to 62 television stations owned or managed by the Sinclair Broadcasting Group - many of them in swing states - will show the documentary "Stolen Honor: Wounds That Never Heal," which is highly critical of Senator John Kerry's antiwar activities 30 years ago. The documentary will preempt regular prime-time broadcasting and is to run without commercials and is done in the style of a new program. Sinclair's plan to show the documentary was first made public by The Los Angeles Times on Saturday.

This isn't news.. it's free campaigning! I realize that life is not fair but, as a teacher, I try to be fair with my students. Would that others in power had that view.
